Agent Guide

Multi-Factor Authentication & How to Request a New Agent Login

The University of Sydney has enabled Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) into Sydney Student, also known as the Agent Portal.

The reason for this is to encompass the University's ongoing cyber security compliance.

MFA is an account login process that requires a two-step verification process to safeguard applicant and student data.

This means that everyone will need to have their own unique log in to the Agent Poral with their individual/personliased work email address. This is necessary to keep in line with the University's cyber security policy.

Roles Types

As an agent you will have one of three role types. Each role type will determine what actions you can take and will change what you can see in the Agent Poral.

Three role types include:

- Premium Level User – can request all types of role type accounts for multiple offices under the company. Can also submit/manage applications across all offices under the company.
- Mid-Level User – can only request a mid-level user and user role accounts and only for the office they belong to. Can only submit/manage applications for the office they belong to.
- User – cannot request any role accounts. Can only submit/manage applications for the office they belong to.

Access Role Type	Can lodge individual course applications only.	A User will have the ability to lodge/manage applications only.	A Mid-level user will have the ability to request for new Mid-level User and User for their own office. A Mid-level user will also have the ability to lodge/manage applications for their own office.	A Premium User will have the ability to request for new Premium User, Mid-level User and User for all offices under the agency. A premium user will also have the ability to lodge/manage applications across all offices.

Log in Process for New Agents

Now that you understand the different roles, we will now take you through the process in the Agent Portal on how to log into the Portal and update your password.

The first step to start the process is receiving an email notification. All new agents will be sent an email from no-reply@sydney.edu.au providing them their ID Number and a 'one off' link (available for seven days). This will prompt the agent to enter a new password. This will allow access to the portal. The next time the agent logs in the MFA process will begin.

Once you have clicked on this link and changed your password, please do not use this link again. You will need to access the portal with your new password via https://sydneystudent.sydney.edu.au/.

Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) Set Up

If you are logging in for the first time via the email you received, you will be prompted to set up a new password.

After you have completed that step, you will receive a notification thanking you for setting up your password.

You will then be provided a NEW link which will take you to the start of the MFA process in the Agent Portal.

The steps below outline this process.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Once your account request has been approved by International Office, you will receive an email with the details to set up your MFA log in. Use these steps below to complete this process.

Receive an email from

"no-reply@sydney.edu.au"

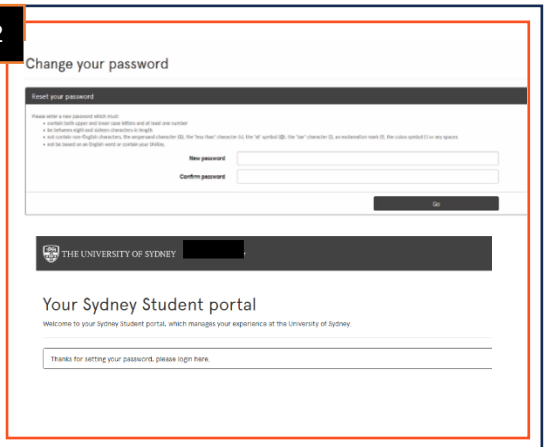

providing you your ID Log in details. Click on the link provided. If you do not use this link within 7 days, you will need to contact 'Sydney Future Students'.

Set up your new password following the instructions in the email.

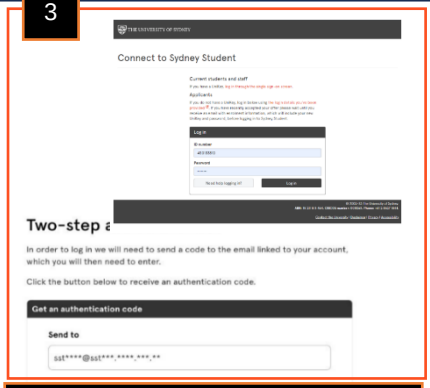

Sydney Future Students
iic.sra@sydney.edu.au

The login ID provided in the email will be your ID Number login to the Agent Portal. You will be required to use this ID every time you log in.

An email will be sent to your registered individual work email providing the authentication code.*

The MFA Code email will be sent from "no-reply@sydney.edu.au"

If you did not receive a code after checking your junk folder, please contact iic.sra@sydney.edu.au

The first time you log in you will be directed to update your password. You will then be provided a NEW link which will take you to the start of the MFA process.

Return to your Agent Portal and continue business as usual.

If the verification code is entered incorrectly an 'invalid code' message will be displayed.

*If you select 'Trust this device (not recommended if using a shared machine)' You will not be required to enter a verification code when using the same device or same browser for 30 days.

If you insert an incorrect verification code more than 5 times, you will need to begin the login process again.

If an agent has requested maximum number of verification codes, the agent will have to enter the most recent code they receive or begin the logging in process. again.

If you need any assistance at any time, please contact International Office:

iic.sra@sydney.edu.au

Once that MFA Process is complete all agents will have access to the Agent Portal to submit and manage applications as normal.

How to change an Agent's Office as a premium user

Requesting a New Agent Login ID

This guide will take you through the process of adding a new login ID to the Agent Portal. Only Premium Level and Mid-level users can request a new user account to be added to the Agent Portal.

Each request for a new agent login ID to be set up will be assessed by International Office. If it is approved, the nominated user will receive a notification email with their individual login ID and a link to set up password. If the request is 'declined' the agent creating the account will be notified. All notification emails will be sent from: no-reply@sydney.edu.au.

First step to request the login ID is to log into the Agent Portal using the normal link: https://sydneystudent.sydney.edu.au/

The biggest change will be for the Premium Level and Mid-Level Users. They are responsible for requesting new accounts. The International Office will assess each of the account user requests. Once approved by the International Office, the new user will receive their login ID and the link to set up their password by email.

Your assigned User role determines what actions you can take regarding creating new agents, where you can change offices or assign to only your office. The table at the beginning helps to clarify this.

Account role type change

Once the account is set up, you cannot change your account role type by yourself. Please contact International Office at iic.sra@sydney.edu.au with the login ID to discuss this further.

Staff changes/Offboarding staff

If you have any staff resign or they no longer need our portal access, it is your agency's obligation to notify us by contacting iic.sra@sydney.edu.au so we can disable the corresponding login ID and its associated information. Any of your agency's premium level users or mid-level users can contact us about this.

The University will also run a report twice a year and send it to the agreement signatory so any inactive account users can be disabled through this process.

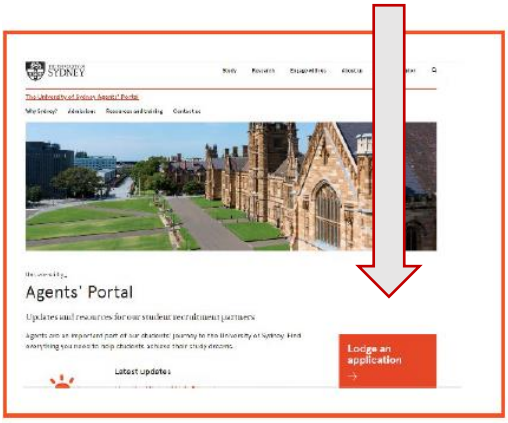

If you need any assistance, please contact International Office at iic.sra@sydney.edu.au.

New Form

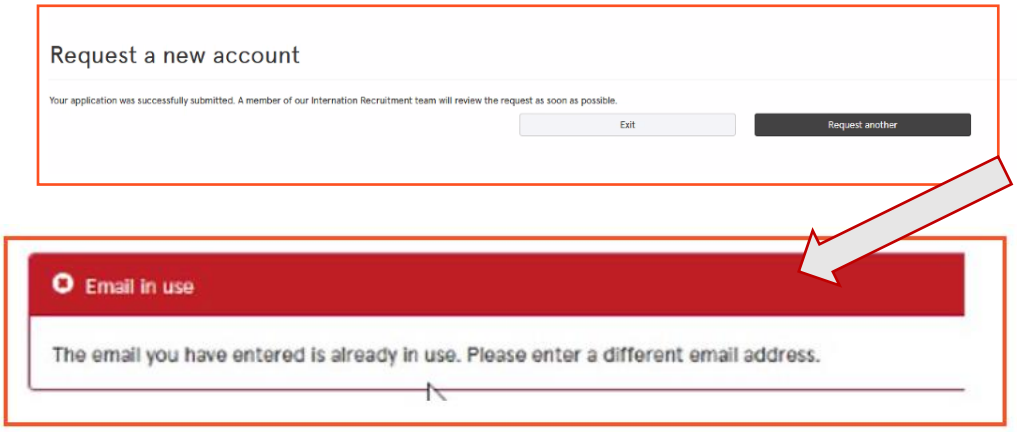

New Form Features

The form will display the office that you are from. If you are logged in as a Premium User, agencies that have multiple offices can click on the drop-down and a list of related offices will appear.

If you are logged in as a Mid-level user, you can only request new Mid-level user or User for your own office.
